And scores of others.

The contract having been signed and read, it was now taken to the back parlor, where it remained throughout the varing, during which time the signatures of all who witnessed the marriage only served to painfully highlien the lotte and when contrasted with the lithe and ceitte city belles of the present day, cemed to be of another generation, the past and the present, the old and the new, the out-going and the in-coming, at will be a long time before we shall wer behold such a sight again, and we must say that the passing away people were superior in many respects to the insoling.

The ceremony was to take place at solelock in the evening. Long before hat hour the parlors were conveided, with the exception of a passage-way left hrough the center of cach. The friends, in their poculiar and well-known costimes, were seated in the front parlor, in solemn silence. The gentlemen were, or the most part, dressed in black, with white meekties, while the lakes worenal lace caps with little peaked crowns, and lace under-handkereduefs. The prevailing colors of their dresses were brown, a deep, rich, mulberry, and lack. Whenever a Friend entered the room he or she shook hands with each one present, saluting them by their given annes.

THE MARRIAGE.

Beneath the mirror in the front parlor, a sofa had been placed for the bride and groom, and upon either side were chairs for the best man and woman. The friends and relatives being assembled the bast man and woman entered the bask parlor, followed by the bridal pair, They walked the entire length of the parlor, and amid a profound silence took the set is designed for them. Why Missouri Voted for Grant. It seems, from the small vote polled in Missouri in the late Presidential election that proscription in that State is bu little less general than in poor Brownlow-ridden Tennessee. According to the returns, it is shown that Indiana, which sends eleven repre utatives to Congress but two less representatives, gave bu 150,000 votes in the election on the 3d. Of course the missing votes are those disfranchised citizens, and they cann safe to say that three-fourths of the if permitted, have cast their votes for Seymour and Blair.
